papers, one would think that Mr. Crain, as a person of such high standing in the community, would be able to get along in the valley when the facts would plainly show that he did not take into custody one out of ten that have been arrested in Antelope Valley. The first Constable of Soledad Township, stationed at Lancaster, made during his term of office ten times as many arrests as Mr. Crain. Joe Johnson has arrested five times as many men as did Crain.

"In justice to Mr. Crain, I say that he has made comparatively few arrests as compared with Johnson.

"Johnson has lately busied himself in stirring up contention and strife among his neighbors, to the detriment of the peace of the community, and the cost of the criminal cases in the Superior Courts from Antelope Valley can be traced to him. He is the man who has made the Antelope Valley famous for its breeding community, where in fact there resides nowhere in the State a more peaceable people.

Hereafter we have kept silent on this subject, but it now appears to us that we should make these statements that all may know who is to blame for all this trouble coming from the section in which we live.

Our people believe that Mr. Crain has been unfairly dealt with. A petition exonerating Crain from any criminal intention was signed by nearly all of the respectable citizens of our village. Today he is held in high estimation by our people.

THE TRIENNIAL SACRIFICIAL FEAST OF THE CHINESE.

A Unique Procession and Interesting Exercises in the Joss House

—Thousands of Visitors
In Chinatown.

Ah Nawa, or the Chinese triennial sacrificial feast, culminated last night in Chinatown in a blaze of glory. Every three years the Chinese people subscribe funds to properly celebrate this religious festival. Priests are imported from China, together with all the necessary josses, representations of battles between the gods and the devil, besides immense quantities of carved idols and temple decorations. This year the temple is located on Apabasia alley in a commodious building temporarily erected for the purpose. A large yard nearly one hundred feet long leads to the temple and the board fences on both sides are covered with the subscription list, which in

This case amounts to over $10,000. Every chinaman's contribution is placarded, and he who is too poor to contribute will have to deter his hopes of salvation for another three years. The Great Joss, who at the close of the festival is burned up and the smoke as it ascends heavenward is supposed to carry with it the prayers for the salvation of the Chinese people.

For the past two days the five important priests have kept up a furious onslaught on all the devils that contaminate the Chinese mind. They have used the most insupportable and the beating of cymbals and tom-toms will frighten his satanic majesty and his attendant imps from the classics of the Chinatown for the next three years to come.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Chinese paraded the principal streets of the city in military order. The Chinese contingents of Chinese military life were

The curious Canadians invaded the biggest retreats of the Chinese, who received their intrusions with perfect good nature.
Many of them puffed away at their pipes, and the Chinese proprietors, who were accustomed to cater to the curious gaze of the visitors. The pool gamblers were all liberally patronized and every class of trade did a rushing business. Like that of last night, the various rival factions temporarily bury the hatchet, and the well-eyed highlander sheathed his sword. The Chinese, with their usual calm and self-control, were not disturbed by the ness in perfect good fellowship. The festival this year was quite as successful as that of three years ago, although on that occasion they spent over $15,000 on their celebration.

THE SUPERVISORS.

Routine Business Transacted by the Board.

At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors yesterday, the petition of the Post Publishing Company, asking that the election proclamation be printed in that journal was denied.

The District Attorney advised the board that the Garvanza bridge could be built and the bid of M. H. Ledbetter for the job was accepted.

On motion of Supervisor Hubbard, a bridge across the Arroyo Seco north of the old Bacon and Stoneman roads, was declared a public necessity, and its construction was ordered at once.

It was then ordered to furnish the Horticultural Commission with a B. & O. spray pump for use in this county.

By H. F. Stanford, F. M. Buxter and P. Russell, were appointed viewers of the Loudon, Bechtel and Rondo roads.

On motion of Supervisor Rowan, it was ordered that in all cases where tax deeds have been applied for, and the fees for the same are not deposited, the application be cancelled forthwith.

The Crown Hills.

The regular weekly meeting of the Crown Hill Improvement Society was held last evening at Ellis College Hall.

A resolution was adopted asking the City Council to raise the grade of Pearl street to escape the inconvenience of a verti-over-<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> winter, as has been the case in the past.

The annual discussion took place on the streets of shade trees along the residence of the plantings, and it was agreed that the plantings of one street with palms would be a unique and attractive feature.

On motion the Vestry Committee was instructed to canvass First and Second streets west of Figueroa, with a view to inducing private owners to plant palms.

Return Thanks.

The ladies who had the Orphans' Fair charge decided to return their most sincere thanks to Mrs. Gov. J. G. Downey for a contribution of $100 which she so generously contributed to the cause.

The ladies also decided to return their thanks to Mrs. M. J. Hancock for a donation in the way of a check for a considerable amount and also to B. F. Coulter for his contribution.

A Liberal Offer.

The Imperial Building and Loan Association of this city are making very liberal offers on building lots nearable lines, and parties wishing to accept these bargains can have seven years' time to pay, by paying small amounts monthly. People with little means will do well to investigate, and can get full particulars by calling at the main office, Potomac building, room 2.

Marriage Licenses.

The following marriage licenses were yesterday issued by the County Clerk:

Louis G. Spring, aged 32, a native of Illinois, to Bertha Fischer, aged 31, a native of Ohio.

SPECIAL DEPUTIES.

The List of Appointments
About Completed.

THEIR DUTIES AND POWERS.

General and Special Instruction
Which Have Been Issued for Their Guidance—Alleged Registration Frauds.

United States Marshal George E. Gard has now about completed the appointment of the ninety-four special deputies for the Congressional election. The following general instructions to the special deputies have been issued:

1. The special deputy marshals appointed for the municipal election precincts of the city of Los Angeles, within the sixth Congressional District of California, are directed to keep the peace at the polls on the day of election, to be held on the 4th day of November, 1890. For reasons stated in Congress, and to support and protect the Supervisors of Election in the discharge of their duties; to attend their election precincts at the time and place fixed for the registration of voters, who being registered, would be entitled to vote for representatives in Congress; to keep the peace and prevent fraudulent registration, ticket, or fraudulent conduct on the part of any officer of election; to aid and assist the Supervisors of Election in the rendition of any list of voters who may have been registered; to preserve order, and immediately at the polling place, or of registration, or elsewhere, to arrest and take into custody, with or without process, any person who shall commit or attempt to commit, any act of fraudulent registration, or vote, or any offense against the laws of the United States.

2. For any of the said fraudulent acts, not committed in the presence of the deputy marshals, or the Supervisors, the deputy marshals are instructed not to make arrest on the day of election without legal process. They are especially instructed not to make arrests on the day of election for any offense committed at the registration without process.

Should any of the deputy marshals in the execution of their duties be prevented by violence, threats or menaces from arresting any person who shall commit any offense for which the special marshals are authorized to make such arrests, the deputy marshals are, and each of them is empowered to summon and call to his or their aid the posse comitatus of his district.

3. Whenever any special deputy marshal shall make arrests for any fraudulent acts mentioned in the foregoing instructions, he is instructed to take the offender forthwith before a Commissioner of the Superior Court of the United States, for examination of the offense alleged against him, and to report the fact of such arrest immediately to the Marshal's office.

The following special instructions have been issued for the direction of the special officers:

1. Each deputy will wear his badge of office outside, on the left lapel of his coat, during the time he shall be on duty.

2. It is strictly enjoined upon every deputy to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors while on duty, and not to be boisterous in speech or in manner. The proof of any deputy being under the influence of intoxicating liquors will be sufficient reason for withholding his per diem.

3. Every deputy must be on duty all day during the election.

4. After the polls are closed and until the counting of votes is completed, deputies in each precinct must be on duty.

5. No deputy will be permitted to solicit votes, or take any active part in the election.

6. The attention of deputies is especially called to the following section of the Revised Statutes of the United States: Section 552. If any person be appointed a Supervisor of elections, a special deputy Marshal under the provision of title "The Elective Franchise," and has taken the oath of office as such Supervisor of Election or such special deputy marshal, and thereafter neglects or refuses, without good and lawful excuse, to perform the duties fully the duties, obligations and requirements of such office, until the expiration of the term for which he was appointed, he shall not only be subject to removal from office, with loss of all pay and emoluments, but shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than six months nor more than one year, or by a fine of not less than $200 and not more than $500, or by both fine and imprisonment, and shall pay the costs of prosecution.

7. Deputies will at all times take their position directly near the polls, within hearing distance of the Supervisors, in order that their attention may be called to observe any person who shall fraudulently attempt to commit any of the acts forbidden and enumerated in the foregoing instructions.

It is charged by those who know that some very palpable frauds on the registration have been committed and a close watch will be kept by the Republican County Central Committee to see to it that the parties who are not properly entitled to vote do not. These charges of fraudulent registration are in no way a reflection or intended as such upon the officials who had the matter in charge. It is said that frauds of the kind committed could have been done even though the officers having the registration under their control were most vigilant.

The attendance last evening was quite large and the receipts at the several booths were correspondingly high. The ladies all labored diligently to amuse and please the visitors. A large number of the representatives of the Brotherhood of Trainmen visited the hall yesterday and were very liberal in their patronage.

THE COURTS.

YORBA ACQUITTED OF THE CHARGE OF MURDER.

Another Victory for the Fruitvale Winery Company Before Judge Ross—New Suits—Court Notes, Etc.

Since the 5th day of June last José Yorba has been resting under the charge of having murdered Jesus Figueroa. But last evening a jury of twelve men in Department One of the Superior Court acquitted Yorba and he was discharged.

The case has been on for two days past before Judge Cheney and a jury. Yesterday morning three witnesses testified on behalf of the people, and at 12 o'clock the people rested their case.

It was evident to all who had heard the testimony that the prosecution had made no case at all. By their own witnesses the theory of the defense that Yorba had killed Figueroa to save his own life was borne out.

At 1:30 p. m., when court was again convened, the examination of witnesses for the defense commenced. Only five were called to the stand to give testimony. The last witness was Yorba himself. He gave a straight story of the affair.

The defense then rested and the case was given to the jury without argument from either side. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty without leaving the box. Yorba was then discharged. As he left the court room he received the congratulations of his many friends.

THE FRUITVALE WINERY.

Another Victory for the Company Before Judge Ross.

The proprietors of the Fruitvale Wine and Fruit Company, a winery at Fresno, scored another victory yesterday in the United States District Court. The Government has been striving to confiscate the distillery property, valued at some $35,000, on the ground that the secretary of the company, W. More Young, committed frauds on the revenue. To the claimant's answer to the complaint the Government demurred. District Judge Ross overruled the demurrer on the ground that Young, a stockholder in the company, had been prosecuted criminally and that therefore no civil process could be maintained against him on the ground of the demurrer to the amended answer of the claimants, which Judge Ross overruled.

Yesterday afternoon the case again came up in the United States District Court. On behalf of the Government, United States Attorney Cole elected to stand on the demurrer to the amended answer of the claimants, which Judge Ross overruled. Judgment for the claimants was then ordered. The Government will appeal the case to the United States Circuit Court.

Angel Romero was arrested yesterday on a charge of disturbing the peace. The complaint was made by a deputy county assessor. It seems that Romero has never made during his official career but two arrests, and on both occasions he has landed Mr. Romero. After hearing the evidence Justice Savage directed Romero on the ground of the insanity of the evidence.

An information against F. J. Dyer, charging him with assault with intent to commit murder, was yesterday filed in Department One of the Superior Court. The only case before Superior Judge Van Dyke in Department Four was that of W. H. George against W. C. Chronicle. It was an election suit involving 100 acres of land in the San Joaquin valley, where the plaintiff desires to restore to him. The entire afternoon was taken up in the examination of witnesses.

In Department Three of the Superior Court, Superior Judge Wade yesterday granted nuncupation papers to the following persons: Wilhelm Humberg and John Anderson, former citizens of New York, and Carl Giesen, formerly a subject of Queen Victoria.

New Suits.

The following new suits were yesterday filed with the County Clerk: W. S. Jackson vs. James A. Bean and wife for $1000 and foreclosure of mortgage. The Mount Shasta Manufacturing Company vs. the Cooperative Lumber Company of Los Angeles for $908.95.

AN OVATION IN THE REDWOODS.

A Trip into the Heart of the Great Forest and the Butter-Making Lowlands of the Humboldt Bay Region.

FERNDALE, (Humboldt Co.), Oct. 17, 1890.—[Staff Correspondence of the Times.] How these people in the country do enjoy getting a fellow out of bed with old "Joond Day!" Why, as I look back at the weeks we have been "swingin' round the circle," I can scarcely call to mind a morning that we have not had a red-eyed night-clerk hammering at our doors just at that hour when "tired nature" is getting in her work with old "sweet restorin', balmly sleep," after the most approved form.

This morning was no exception to the rule, as these royal Humboldtians had arranged a programme up the bay and into the big woods which, in order to compass in good shape, had to be entered on when the day was young.

After a hearty breakfast we boarded the little steamer "Alta" for a trip up the bay to Arcata. At that point we boarded a special train on the narrow gauge Mad River and Arcata Railroad. The superintendent of the line was the engineer, and the choicest fellows in all the country were our escorts. Col. Markham from Los Angeles, bright as though he had just come over to the furniture store from Pasadena, and enjoyed every inch of the miles as the engine's drivers unrolled them out of the distance.

Our way lay through the once great redwood forests, now showing the vicious onslaughts of the men with axes, evinced by the gigantic stumps that do every foot of the way. The railroad as it darts up the bay, which has a trouty air about it that makes a fellow want to get out and catch grasshoppers for bait, and we each resolved to some day come up here and get even with the fish which wriggled their tails at us as they swam by.

At 10 o'clock we had reached North Fork, the location of Corbell Bros. great mill which turns out a million feet of lumber per day. These people in the redwoods have a warm spot in their hearts for the lumbermen, for they haven't forgotten what good customers we were for their product in the days of the boom, consequently Col. Markham had an especially royal welcome from the residents of the woods, and they flocked up to greet along the way.

adopted in training the horse Silkwood. He has upon no occasion been handled as a star, and from the moment the race was arranged between Silkwood and Hummer he was given the best preparatory care. He did not come to Los Angeles in one day as stated, but left Santa Ana on Tuesday and came to Mr. Strout's at Newark, that night, seventeen miles, in five hours, and was driven to my stables on Pico Heights, in five and a half hours Wednesday morning, and was not taken from the stable next day, Thursday. He was given the very best care at my stables, both before and after the race. There is very little doubt that "Kenilworth" has been misled, probably by some of the soreheads who dropped their coin. It would indeed be somewhat strange if Jacob Willets, after between forty and fifty years' experience as a breeder, trainer and driver, did not know something about the management of a horse in training.

He certainly has not come here to learn, for I doubt if with all their knowledge, the younger drivers and trainers can teach the man who fought out many a hard race with Dan Mace and his peers and who, in his sixteenth year, can drive with any of the younger drivers and beat them, as he did "Garry" in the second heat of their race, when he thought he had noticed the old man out of it.

Mr. Willets has learned what the Australians swear by, that a little green food will help instead of mar a horse's chances as a winner.

As a Mr. Willets's Los Angeles agent, I should be pleased to offer "Kenilworth" the hospitalities of the Plaza Ranch at Santa Ana, where he can judge for himself whether Silkwood and his many brothers and sisters are treated as he has been led to suppose, and we challenge any ranch in California to produce sounder or fiercer grown trotters than can be found there.

Thanking you for the space allowed me in your valuable columns I am, Respectfully,

J. A. EDMUNDS, Pico Heights, Los Angeles.

Where She Lived.

It is strange how difficult some persons find it to answer a simple question directly. Even the fact that time, other people's time, is valuable does not disturb their enjoyment in chatting of various things which have no bearing on the two or three words which their interlocutors wait more or less patiently to hear. The following conversation took place not long ago in a busy savings bank.

Said the cashier, "Where do you live, madam?"

"Well, I just came up from the Cape. My sister's just been married, and her husband has a fine place down there. He's doing well, is Amelia's husband, and I'm glad of it. They say—"

"Excuse me, madam," interrupted the cashier, "I wish to fill in this blank with your residence."

"Well, I was going to tell you. She wanted me to go down and visit her at the Cape. So I've been down there a month. She wouldn't hardly let me come up today. She said I must stay a week longer, anyway. But I thought—"

Again the official protested, "What is your address now?"

"As I was saying, I am going to look for a boarding place up here, where I'll stay until I can find a place to suit me for all winter. And I can't decide—"

She paused a minute for breath, and seemed rather surprised to be asked sternly:

"Where have you been staying? That address will do."

"Why, at my sister's, down on the Cape. I never make long visits, but I've been there more than a month, she being just married and thinking a sight of me."

HILL ON THE TARIFF.

He Discusses the Tariff in McKinley's State.

And Fears That the Interests of the Farmer are Trifled With.

Speaker Reed Delivers an Address to the Grangers at Champaign.

The Great Leader Explains the McKinley Bill and Foretells Industrial Prosperity—Progress of the Eastern Campaign.

By Telegraph to the Times.

CANTON (O.), Oct. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] Gov. Hill was greeted on his arrival here today by a large throng. Tonight, after a large torchlight procession of Democratic clubs, he spoke to a crowd of 3000 people at the rink. Many were unable to obtain admission.

Governor Hill said in part: An important political campaign is upon which the country has entered. The question presented to our voters is not whether the next House of Representatives shall be Republican or Democratic, but whether the nature of our Federal Government is to be radically modified and the integrity of our institutions successfully threatened. The great issue is the right of the Republican party in its brief control of Congress. No party has more recklessly and more brazenly overturned traditions, more seriously invaded private rights, more arbitrarily encroached upon the prerogatives of States, or more tyrannically abused the power of a partisan majority. The animating motive of its acts seem to have been only the perpetuation of its own power. The party has increased its majority in the House of Representatives by arbitrarily ejecting Democrats from seats; stolen the representation of one State in the Senate; admitted to the Union a territory whose only claim for admission is that they will swell Republican majorities; denied representation to the people of a territory much better qualified for statehood in point of population and resources; ignored the rights of the majority by tyrannical means and the rights of the minority by arbitrary means; squandered the Treasury surplus by extravagant appropriations to conciliate particular interests; enacted a tariff bill which will supply corruption funds for election; conducted a census denounced everywhere as worthless, and manipulated for counting Republican votes up and Democratic populations down; and has threatened the enactment of a force bill which will put an end to State authority in the certification of Federal elections and make Congress not representative of the people but a creature of whatever men the Federal officials may choose to consult.

This is the record that confronts the people. A long practice in hypocrisy has not failed the Republican leaders to disguise partisanship in patriotic language, but their appeal, after all, is one to cupidity and selfishness. Frightened by the disapproval which their headstrong and revolutionary course has aroused in their own party, they are endeavoring to bolster up their shaky position by appeals to sectionalism and party pride. If our institutions are to be preserved pure and intact, every patriotic citizen must do his duty in rebuking this grasping and tyrannical course. After discussing the tariff so far as it relates to the interests of the farmers, the Governor continued:

But not only has the Republican Congress stooped to a sharper trick to keep the American farmer in the net of tariff on his products, but it has even made his living more expensive than it hitherto has been. His wages are paid 30 per cent more duty, while the rich man's broadcloth pays a duty of 10 per cent more. The duty on sealskin is reduced 25 per cent, while that on silk plush, sequins, which the poor woman wears, has increased 60 per cent. The duty on worsted shawls which the farmer's wife wears, is raised from 62 to 80 per cent. On women shawls the increase varies from 10 to 30 per cent. On women's and children's cheap dress goods the increase is much less. For his flannels the consumer must pay an increase of at least 30 per cent. On ready-made clothing the increase in taxation is from 54 per cent to 58.

The Governor mentioned several other articles and said that the tariff on silk plush, sequins, which the poor woman wears, has increased 60 per cent. The duty on worsted shawls which the farmer's wife wears, is raised from 62 to 80 per cent. On women shawls the increase varies from 10 to 30 per cent. On women's and children's cheap dress goods the increase is much less. For his flannels the consumer must pay an increase of at least 30 per cent. On ready-made clothing the increase in taxation is from 54 per cent to 58.

If you think this is a partisan statement, read what a number of tariffists in the Cabinet say about it in a recent advertisement: "The tariff is advancing in cost, and very soon manufacturers will have their way, and you and I will have to pay much more. In view of this state of things, we make, sometime since, a large purchase of kitchen tinware, at what was a low price then, and would be far lower now, in fact of two advances in the maker's price list."

[Signed.] JOHN WANAMAKER. "All over the country the effect of such legislation has been to increase the prices of dry goods and other household necessities. Not all of this increase is perhaps justifiable, but sharp merchants have been quick to take advantage of the opportunity which McKinley offered them, and the poor consumer is the victim. Whether justly or not, the McKinley bill has led sharply the issue upon which the two parties are divided. In its enactment the Republican party has demonstrated more clearly than ever that the sympathies of its leaders are not with the great mass of the people, but with a certain favored class.

The economic doctrine which the party now supports is one it would have repudiated ten years ago, and which some of its great men like Blaine are evidently desiring to repudiate. The tariff is a protection to our industries and our agricultural products are finding competition in foreign markets, we think within our own borders and our policy one of non-intercourse. The time has come when we should seek other markets, markets not limited to the borders of our own country or our own continent, but wide as the world.

Our foreign trade last year was valued at $1,000,000,000. Can we afford to jeopardize that immense source of national wealth by erecting barriers to commerce? I want to see the American people busy supplying the markets of the world with food and clothing and I want to see American ships carrying our produce over every sea. I want to see the wealth of Europe and Asia and Canada and South America pour into this country to increase the wages of every laborer and enrich every citizen. But I do not expect to be held such results with the present economic system. We have a commanding position for international trade. Shall we take advantage of it or abandon it? Shall we encourage barrier with other nations or shall we discourage it? Shall we strike for an unhealthy and unprofitable expansion of the home market or seek an outlet for our surplus products in foreign markets?

One party, and unfortunately the party in power, says: "The home market is good enough." The other party holds that the home market is already over-supplied; that high protective duties have produced unhealthy competition resulting in over-production, the closing of mills and reduction in wages. It finds the great industries languishing because of highly-taxed raw materials and limited markets. It perceives the organization of great trusts and combines to reduce competition and extort high prices. It finds agriculture depressed by reason of the restrictions our Government has imposed upon the commerce of other nations. Europe is buying more and more of our breadstuffs from Russia, India and Egypt. It suggests the removal of all unnecessary barriers to commercial intercourse, recommends the free admission of raw materials used in manufactures. It will impose higher duties than are necessary to meet foreign competition on articles we produce. It encourages that internal trade which will keep our farmers and our millers busy to supply foreign wants, thereby giving ing steady employment to labor, increasing wages because of increased demand for labor, bringing hundreds of millions of wealth into the country and permitting that general happiness and prosperity to which the nature of our population and our resources entitles us.

Reverting once more to the McKinley bill, the speaker asked what would become of us if Europe should retaliate by checking her import of breadstuffs, cotton, oil and provisions from the United States.

We sent abroad last year $742,000,000 worth of goods, and thousands of them were agricultural products. What could recompense the country for the loss of this vast market? What could alleviate the distress among all classes of people? Well might Blaine say that the McKinley bill would open a new market for a single bushel of wheat or a barrel of pork. We ought to feel grateful if it does not deprive us of what markets we have.

In conclusion, Gov. Hill spoke of the contest in the Sixteenth Congress District, urging every Democrat to vote for Warwick, the Democratic candidate. For McKinley he had the highest respect, but there never had been a partisan outrage attempted against a Democratic party which McKinley had not supported, besides using instrumental in forcing upon the country what can properly be designated as "the sum of all villainies."

REED IN ILLINOIS.

The Great Speaker Talks to Farmers on the Tariff.

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.), Oct. 20.—[By the Associated Press.] Speaker Reed spoke here today. He was introduced by Congressman Cannon, whose district this city is in. Mr. Reed spoke at length on the tariff, the election and the work of the present Congress. He said in part: "The farmer, no less than the mechanic, is the beneficiary of protection, for the system that protects American money at home and creates markets for all American products, must enhance prices to the tillers of the soil the same as to the tillers in the mills. Of what use is it," he asked, "that everything that is made cheap if a man has not got a dollar. Do not be alarmed about prices. If prices go up as the result of general prosperity the people will have money to pay them. The Democratic papers that declared editorially that the farmers are going up contain advertisements of merchants on the next page, which say they are still selling goods at the old prices, at the old stand."

Mr. Reed also spoke briefly at Bloomington this evening.

OHIO'S LEGISLATURE.

The House Agrees to Accept the Rejected Message.

COLUMBUS (O.), Oct. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The House this morning adopted a resolution as the sense of the body, that no slight or insult was intended on the part of the House in the refusal of the Speaker to accept the Governor's message yesterday evening, and appointing a committee to call upon the Governor and request that the message again be sent to the House. Mr. Campbell complied with the request.

The message recommends that the Legislature pass a law providing that a non-partisan board of improvement for Cincinnati be appointed by the Mayor, and an election be held in April. It also recommends that the board be composed of the members of the board in bad repute and should be abolished at once.

Gov. Campbell's message was read in the Senate this afternoon and referred. Following this a strong attack was made on the Governor by Senator Brown of Cincinnati, who condemned the Governor's action relative to the Board of Improvements of Cincinnati. During its session the Senate passed a bill providing that Mayor Mosley shall have the appointment of members of the new board, and for an election to be held in April. The bill is non-partisan in character and abolishes the present board of improvement in the city of Cincinnati.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The North German Lloyd Steamer Spree, from Bremen, arrived this morning after a somewhat tedious passage. She was detained in the channel by a dense fog, and was obliged to run at a slow rate. Afterwards, and clear across the western ocean, she experienced very severe westerly gales with high seas. She was obliged to stop several times, in all about thirty-six hours, owing to trouble with the air pumps, which gave out frequently.

The National Line steamer France, about which so much anxiety was felt, was sighted this afternoon off Sandy Hook.

BOUND TO HANG HIM.

A Vigilance Committee Seeking Ramon Lopez.

The San Barbara Murderer Brought to This City for Safety.

Incensed Citizens Prepare to Go to Ventura After Him.

The Murder of Mary Dozello Creates Intense Excitement in the Channel City—The Girl's Mother Dying.

By Telegraph to the Times.

SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] A vigilance committee was formed here yesterday to avenge the death of Mary Dozello, the young girl who was murdered early yesterday morning by Ramon Lopez, because she refused to accept the latter's attentions. The prisoner was taken to Ventura during the afternoon, but the committee did not believe this and last night over one hundred men visited the County Jail and demanded that Lopez be delivered to them.

The keys were given to the leader and the jail and courthouse searched, but the murdered was not found. The feeling against Lopez is at fever heat, and it is reported that members of the Vigilance Committee have sworn to hang him. The officers in Ventura feared that the crowd would go there to take the prisoner, and this evening Lopez and Eduardo Espinosa, another Santa Barbara murderer, were placed on a train at Ventura and taken to Los Angeles for safe-keeping.

It is reported here tonight that the mother of the murdered girl is dying on account of the tragedy, and that her father is nearly crazed.

ECONOMY IN CONSOLIDATION.

C. P. Huntington Favors the Combination of all the Railroads.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] C. P. Huntington, president of the Southern Pacific Company, in an interview, expressed himself as in favor of the consolidation of the great railway systems of the United States into one company, and thought that eventually such a consolidation would be brought about; but at present not even preliminary steps had been taken. Said President Huntington:

Because there is railroad competition at large competing points and large shippers can secure rebates, which are practically cuts and which are ruinous to the roads. Small shippers cannot secure them, and are at a disadvantage. The losses sustained through rebates to large shippers have to be made up out of the smaller ones. One of the results of the consolidation of large railway systems will be the reduction of expenses in many ways, besides the savings in rebates now given. Rates could thus be lowered, and at the same time even larger dividends than those at present paid could be secured.

STEAMSHIP DISASTERS.

Government Statistics of Last Year's Casualties.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The annual report of Inspector-General Dumont of the Steamboat Inspection Service shows the total number of vessels inspected during the year to be 7055. The total net tonnage of the vessels inspected was 1,330,339 55; total number of officers licensed, 33,237. During the year there were 34 accidents, resulting in the loss of 245 lives, a decrease of 56 compared with the preceding year.

Of the accidents, seventeen resulted from collisions and 102 of the lives lost were by drowning. Of the number of lives lost, sixty-five were passengers and 180 officers or persons employed on the steamers. Fully five hundred million passengers were carried on steam vessels during the fiscal year. The report shows a saving in the expenses of the foreign steamboat inspection service, resulting from the discontinuance of offices for such inspection at Philadelphia, New Orleans and San Francisco. General Dumont suggests the abolition of the foreign inspection service altogether.

The Bargains We Offer Are So Attractive That the People Will Have Them Regardless of the Weather.

People's Store.

Wednesday, Oct. 22.

The hot weather we are having is certainly something astonishing for this time of year, but it seems to have no effect upon us. We are kept busy all day long supplying the wants of our patrons. The secret of it is this: We are giving the best values for the least money ever heard of before. To do this we were compelled to buy larger stocks than ever before, but that cuts no figure with us; we can never buy too much providing we can get goods so as to be able to place them within the reach of all. If you look at our list every day you cannot help being convinced that what we say is so. Not a department in the house but what is teeming with bargains. Come in and see for yourselves.
